This notice will tell you about the ways in which your health information may be used and disclose. This notice also describe your rights to the health information kept about you, and describes certain obligations Family Legacy Therapy has regarding the use and disclosure of your health information. We are required by law to:

II. HOW YOUR HEALTH INFORMATION MAY BE USED AND DISCLOSED.

The following categories describe different ways that your health information will be used and disclose. For each category of uses or disclosures Family Legacy Therapy will explain what is meant and try to give some examples. Not every use or disclosure in a category will be listed. However, all of the ways Family Legacy Therapy is permitted to use and disclose information will fall within one of the categories.

For Treatment Payment, or Health Care Operations: Federal privacy rules and regulations allow health care providers who have direct treatment relationship with the client to use or disclose the client’s personal health information without the client’s written authorization, to carry out the health care provider’s own treatment, payment or health care operations. Family Legacy may also disclose your protected health information for the treatment activities of any health care provider. This too can be done without your written authorization. For example, if a clinician were to consult with another licensed health care provider about your condition, we would be permitted to use and disclose your person health information, which is otherwise confidential, in order to assist the clinician in diagnosis and treatment of your mental health condition.

Disclosures for treatment purposes are not limited to the minimum necessary standard. Because therapists and other health care providers need access to the full record and/or full and complete information in order to provide quality care. The word “treatment” includes, among other things, the coordination and management of health care providers with a third party, consultations between health care providers and referrals of a patient for health care from one health care provider to another.

Lawsuits and Disputes: If you are involved in a lawsuit, Family Legacy Therapy may disclose health information in response to a court or administrative order. Family Legacy Therapy may also disclose health information about your child in response to a subpoena, discovery request, or other lawful process by someone else involved in the dispute, but only if efforts have been made to tell you about the request or to obtain an order protecting the information requested.
